BEFORE YOU READ

Four ways to present one function

The same function can be given by an equation, a table, a graph or words. Each shows something the others hide.

TAKEAWAY

Precision against overview

Equations are exact, graphs show the overall shape, tables give values at chosen points, and words tie the function to its context.